HERO DEAD BURIED WITH FULL HONORS

Fifty-five American Veterans Interred With Ceremonies at Arlington Cemetery.

Four separate though identical ceremonies marked the final military honors that were paid to fifty-one enlisted men and four officers at Arlington Cemetery yesterday afternoon. Many victims of the Tuscania disaster were among those interred and the number of relatives and friends present, as mourners, was unusually large.

The American Red Cross, the American Legion, War Mothers' committee, American Women's Legion, and the army were represented, while a detachment from D Battery, nineteenth field artillery, and a firing detail from Troop I, third cavalry, both from Fort Myer, Va., served in an official capacity at the graves.

Chaplain Ignatius Fealy from Fort Myer and Milton C. Beebe from Walter Reed Hospital had charge of the religious services, which though brief, were exceedingly impressive. Each ceremony consisted of the playing of the hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee," by the Fort Myer band, the prayers of the chaplains, the firing of the three volleys, and the sounding of "taps" by a third cavalry bugler. The first services were held over the bodies of forty-eight white enlisted men, then over those of three colored soldiers and finally over the last resting places of the four officers. All were identical in character.

Two incidents were noted at the obsequies. Rev. Walter G. McNeil, pastor of the Dumbarton Avenue M. E. Church, this city, who officiated with Chaplain Beebe at the grave of Lieut. Col. Robert C. Geldart, coast artillery, U. S. A., who died in Germany, was also the clergyman, who performed the marriage ceremony when the officer was wed in Annapolis.

A pathetic scene occurred when a mother approached the grave of her son, whom she had not seen in years and who did not know of his death until informed by the War Department. Several of the relatives came from as far West as Utah and Montana.

CAPT. ROBT. WAINWRIGHT IS BURIED IN ARLINGTON

Retired Marine Officer Direct Descendant of Franklin.

Capt. Robert Duer Wainwright, U. S. M. C. retired, first cousin of Rear Admiral Richard Wainwright, was buried in Arlington Cemetery this morning with full military honors. Captain Wainwright had been ill for more than a year. Heart disease was given as the immediate cause of death, which occurred Thursday in the Norfolk Naval Hospital. Until about a year ago he was a patient at the Naval Hospital in Washington, and later was transferred to the Norfolk hospital. He is survived by his wife and one son, Henry Wainwright, of Norfolk.

Born seventy-one years ago, Captain Wainwright was a graduate of the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md. He made the marine corps his life work. Several years ago he retired from active duty and made his home in Norfolk.

Mr. Wainwright is a direct descendant of Benjamin Franklin and has many relatives in Philadelphia, Pa.

MISS LAURA L. WILSON. Born seventy-one years ago, Captain Wainwright was a graduate of the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md. He made the marine corps his life work. Several years ago he retired from active duty and made his home in Norfolk.

Funeral services for Miss Laura L. Wilson, one of the oldest inmates of the Methodist Home, who died Thursday night, were held this morning at the home. The Rev. Hamilton Fox, pastor of Hamline Methodist Episcopal Church, conducted the services. Interment was in Glenwood Cemetery.

Miss Wilson was born in Ohio eighty-two years ago. She came to Washington with her parents when a girl, and was educated at Rush Hall, being one of the first graduates in deaconess' work in that institution. She taught at Rush Hall for several years, and when her eyesight failed her twenty-seven years ago, she gave up her life work and entered the Methodist Home. Although blind, Miss Wilson was an enthusiastic student of the Bible. She was a member of Hamline Church.

A sister, Mrs. Osborne, of California, survives her.

JOHN S. F. GREEN. Funeral services for John S. F. Green, an interior decorator, who died Wednesday at his home, 1516 Ninth street northwest, will be held at three o'clock this afternoon from his residence. Interment will be in Congressional Cemetery.

Mr. Green was born in Washington, April 3, 1851. For many years his place of business was in Ninth street, where Moore's Garden Theater is located. Two years ago he retired from business.

He was a member of the Odd Fellows and of the Order of the Macabees. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Isabella Green, and four sons—Harry H., John F., Everett D., and George R. Green.

ALLEN F. MEEM. Word was received here today that Allen F. Meem, son of Mrs. Gertrude Brugler, of Clarendon, Va., died at St. John's Catholic School at Lackawanna, N. Y. Although details of his death have not been ascertained, it was understood the boy suffered from an attack of pneumonia. He had been attending school at Lackawanna since September.

Arrangements for bringing the body to this city are under way. Funeral services probably will be held Monday from the chapel of W. R. Spear Company, 1205 H street northwest.

REV. S. R. HUGHES. Funeral services for the Rev. S. R. Hughes, former pastor of St. Paul's Church, Baltimore, and Simpson Memorial Church of this city, who died yesterday in Baltimore will be held Sunday at 2:30 o'clock, in St. Paul's Church, Baltimore. The body will lie in state from 1 to 2 p. m.

CORCORAN GALLERY OPENED TO PUBLIC

Bankers Attend Private Showing of Art Treasures in Redecorated Building.

Hundreds of bankers, members of the American Bankers Association, attended a private showing of the numerous paintings and statues in the Corcoran Art Gallery, last evening, which marked the reopening of the gallery after having remained closed for repairs and redecoration for three months.

The guests of the gallery, including the bankers and a number of prominent Government officials, arrived about 7:30 o'clock, and were received by C. Powell Minsgerode, director of the gallery; Charles C. Glover, of the Riggs National Bank, president of the gallery, and Richard S. Hawes, president of the American Bankers Association.

For the purpose of night viewings of the Corcoran Art Gallery, a new lighting system, has been installed, and the corridors were flooded with a pale blue light. The old reddish burlap walls were covered with gray monk's cloth, making a suitable background for the work of the famous artists of the world. The woodwork is of a silver gray oak, which replaces the yellow woodwork. A large orchestra furnished music for the occasion.

A lecture by Prof. Wilbur, dean of George Washington University, which was scheduled for yesterday at the gallery, has been postponed until today.

SCHOOL WILL PROMOTE AMERICANIZATION WORK

Representatives from the Naturalization Bureau will answer questions about becoming American citizens at the Americanization School, Seventh and O streets northwest, a school for foreigners, Monday evening.

The class in dressmaking and English, under Miss W. F. Rhode, composed of foreign women, will open at the school Thursday evening, and a splendid meeting of Prof. Christian's Orchestra for members of the school, will be held Monday night.

MISS DRAKE TO SPEAK AT Y. W. C. A. NEXT WEEK

Activities for next week were announced today by the Young Women's Christian Association.

Miss Alice Hutchings Drake will lecture on "The Key to Your City," before "The Booklovers," at 8 o'clock Monday night. Wednesday is "Acquaintance Night," and members are urged to attend and become acquainted with some of the 1,000 members of the organization. Thursday will be "Recreation Night," at 614 E street northwest, under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A.

ASK PALMER'S OPINION OF MD. RIGHT TO FEES

Attorney General Palmer has been asked to render a legal opinion as to whether employees of the commissioner of the Maryland State license bureau can collect notary public fees in this city as a license revenue for the State of Maryland. The point has been raised that two employees of the commissioner's office, both residents of the State of Maryland, administer oaths in the District of Columbia, charging a notary fee for doing so, and turn in this money as revenue to the State of Maryland.

J. W. PHOENIX ADDRESSES MARYLAND G. O. P. RALLY

James W. Phoenix, of the Harding and Coolidge Republican League, No. 1, 1409 Pennsylvania avenue, spoke last night at a meeting of several hundred Republicans at Calvert, Md. Prominent Republicans from Prince Georges, Charles, Montgomery, and Calvert counties attended in large numbers. The meeting was reported to be the largest political gathering held in Southern Maryland and was held under the auspices of the Republican Clubs of Southern Maryland.
